A musical prodigy named Melody Melon was born into a family of musicians. Melody's early years were filled with the harmonious melodies of her parents' instruments.

However, fate dealt her a challenging hand when a tragic accident led to the loss of her arm. She really was at the wrong place at the wrong time.

Years later, at one of her regular hospital check-ups, a doctor had some big news for her. The inspiring story of Melody Melon began at that moment. . .

We managed to find a new prosthetic arm and its available for you.

These are fantastic news! I am so grateful!

Melody could not wait to tell her parents!
Something inside her made her feel that this day would change her life forever - And she was right!

Her parents who were already informed by the doctor, left a surprise for Melody to discover upon her arrival home.

Melody was scared... She was already frustrated before even trying.. How could her parents think she could do this?

When she eventually picked up the violin with her new prosthetic, something odd went through Melody's heart. Something changed from her ordinary state. This feeling was new!!

Melody practices intensively with her new arm, discovering its unique capabilities. The prosthetic seems to respond to her emotions, enhancing the music in a mysterious way. THIS WAS DEFINATELY NEW !!!

Over the years she created an intricate connection with her violin through her prosthetic arm. This connection created magic that benefitted anyone that came in touch with her music. People were able to reflect instantly on their emotions and find joy even in their darkest thoughts!
